BirdLife South Africa and The Big Productions invite you to the exclusive screening of the award-winning CALL OF THE WILD! How do you experience an African sunset or describe the wealth of animals, plants, birds and landscapes of the bush if you are born blind? CALL OF THE WILD, the first ever multi-sensory documentary, explores this question by taking Anika- a young visually impaired girl with a remarkable knack for language and bird calls- on the first ever documented safari for the blind. Designed by the soundscape specialists Derek and Sarah Solomon, this incredible sound safari experience, in a groundbreaking production filmed for both able sighted and blind viewers, will make you listen to the sounds of the African bush as if hearing them for the first time.

TICKETS: R90 PER PERSON | BOOKINGS OPEN 5 FEB
